Preface

The Indian economy bestowed with enormous natural resources and skilled manpower has a vast forex earning potential. To increase our share in international trade, liberalised trade policy was announced in 1991. Since then, simplification continued on a regular basis to promote export from our country. The present import policy announced on 13.4.1998 has introduced many novel features including transfer of 340 items to the free list, reducing the zero duty threshold limit in select categories from Rs.20 crores to Rs.1 crore, revising the DEPB rates to include among others, 5% special customs duty, facility for setting up private bonded warehouses as well as decentralisation of licensing functions. The State Government on their side have been committed for promotion of export from the State. 100% EOUs are declared under the thrust category list, making them eligible for liberal incentives. To improve infrastructure for export, special emphasis for NRI & foreign direct investment is made in infrastructure development. Port Policy, Power Policy, Road Policy, inviting private investment has also been announced by the State Government. All these factors associated with hardwork by exporters have made it possible for Gujarat to contribute approximately 16-17% of total export of the country.

Gujarat, located on western-most part of the country, having 1/3rd of the coastline, has been a maritime state for many centuries, dealing with African and other western countries. The state has been leader in export of Cut & Polished Diamonds, Dyes & Intermediates, Drugs & Pharmaceuticals, Marine Products, Agricultural Products like groundnut, psyllium husk, castor oil, etc. The contribution of the state in other sectors like Denim cloth, Readymade garments, Engineering & Plastic items is also significant.

It has been observed by exporters community that there is a need for Exporters' Directory so that they can find out the sources to meet the requirement of their clients/importers. Since 1994, when Gujarat Chamber of Commerce & Industry published Exporters Directory, there has not been any publication in the market. It was, therefore, thought fit to compile this information. This publication covers the information of about 902 exporters with other useful information, will be helpful to the exporters as well as to the importers for locating the sources directly from the Gujarat State.

I appreciate the guidance provided by Shri SA Dula and the efforts put in by Shri Bharat Mody and Shri KN Gadhvi, who was on deputation to iNDEXTb, for compiling the information in its present format and put this publication in proper shape. I also take the opportunity to thank M/s Universal Computer Printers, Ahmedabad for the layout and printing this publication in time. I would also like to thank exporters who have provided their information to be included in the Directory without which it would not have been possible to compile such directory.

Present Export Scenario And Activities of Gujarat International Trade Promotion Council

Introduction

International trade is the exchange of goods and services among countries. Countries tend to specialise in the production and export of those goods and services that they can produce relatively cheaply and to import things that are produced more efficiently elsewhere. International trade enables countries to use their labour, capital, and other resources in the most productive way possible. In this way they can enjoy a larger quantity and variety of goods than if they did not trade with each other. The tendency of countries to specialise in the production and export of things that they can produce best and relatively cheaply is called by economists the principle of comparative advantage. It is sometimes difficult, however, to explain why countries specialise in some products and not in others. What are the factors responsible?

A country's factor endowments include its stocks physical capital, human capital, workers, technology and natural resources. Physical capital consists of machinery, factories, highways, railways, harbours, and other equipment and facilities used in production. Human capital represents investment in the labour and management force through education, on-the-job training, and work experience. Technology refers to the methods of producing goods and services that determine efficiency in production. Many less developed countries, for example, rich in natural resource endowments, need to import manufactured goods. Important factors to be kept in mind while dealing in international trade are:

- the laws for import prevailing in the other countries,
- foreign exchange position of the trading country,
- political relations,
- tariff and non-tariff barriers.

Over and above quality as well as timely delivery are important parameters.

In the late 1980s, before the reorganisation of the former Soviet bloc countries, the United States, Canada, Western Europe, and Japan accounted for more than two-thirds of total world exports. These industrialised countries were one another's best customers is evident from the fact that 78% of their total exports were sold to one another (1988). The less-developed countries, which export mainly primary commodities, export promotion. Since 1975, India's export has remained stagnant at a level of 0.5% of World's International business. In 1995-96, it has marginally looked up at 0.6%.

Foreign trade as a percentage of GDP (in rupee terms) increased from 14.1 per cent in 1990-1991 to 21 per cent in 1995-96. The volume of trade was US $54 billion in 1994-95 and US$ 71 billion in 1996-97. Net inflows from invisibles rose from US$ 1.6 billion in 1990-91 to US$ 3.5billion in 1995-96, the current account deficit was down from 3.2 per cent to about 1.6 per cent of GDP in 1995-96. India's total export which had never moved beyond 7.1% of GDP during 1950's to 1980's, crossed, for the first time in 1991, to a level of 8% to reach 8.2%. It has further increased to 8.7% and 9.1% (estimated) during 1994-95 and 1995-96. The items for export have gone in significant changes from low value added items to high value added items. Export of agriculture and allied products which was about 45% in 1960-61 has declined to 17% in 1991-92. The value added items like ready-made garments, engineering goods and service sectors, such as computer software and consultancy have grown significantly. India's export has reached to a level of 33 billion US $ in 1996-97 and it is targetted that at the end of year 2000-2001 it will reach to US$ 94 billion.

The following table provides information about India's Export/Import and Bilateral trade.

THE GUJARAT DIRECTORY OF EXPORTERS

Gujarat International Piele Frenkoving Council tion (GIDC) is establishing EPIP at Savli near Vadodara for which they have already acquired the land.

- 4. While announcing new Industrial Policy, Govt. of Gujarat has considered export as a thrust area. 100% EOUs are eligible to receive incentives at higher rate.
- 5. The state Government has given greater importance to the infrastructure facility for promotion of industries. Special emphasis has been laid for creating infrastructure for export purpose i.e. development of ports, roads connecting the ports, etc.
- 6. The private sector investment has been allowed in establishing power generating unit, developing of the ports and roads. Pipavav port has already started operation with the private sector investment. Dahej port and a power unit in Gandhar are under implementation. In Port Policy, Government has identified other ports for development with private investment.
- 7. Foreign investment has always been welcomed by Gujarat. Foreign investors and NRI investors are being assisted by Industrial Extension Bureau as a Nodal Agency. Special efforts have been made for attracting foreign direct investment in infrastructure.
- 8. In order to promote export from the State, the State Government also constituted GUJARAT INTERNATIONAL TRADE PROMOTION COUNCIL (GITPC) under the chairmanship of Chief Secretary to the State Government with various aims and objectives as mentioned below:
 - ☐ To establish contacts with prospective buyers abroad.
 - ☐ To explore possibilities for export markets and identify items of export potential.
 - ☐ To educate on World marketing and tariffs and duties prevailing overseas.
 - ☐ To undertake corporate/product publicity abroad.
 - To publish regular and specialised publications featuring opportunities at the international level and industry profile of home and abroad.
 - To organise conferences and seminars etc. and participate in trade fairs and exhibitions to ensure business transactions.
 - ☐ To undertake foreign market studies and surveys.

- 4. GITPC has been instrumental in arranging the meetings of the State Government officials with foreign trade missions and officials from foreign embassies.
- 5. The Council has created the data base and has been assisting the exporters by way of providing information during their visit and/or through postal enquiries.
- 6. The Council has established the connectivity with World Trade Centre Network. This network provides facility to advertise the products on Bulletin Board. Facility is also available for retrieving the information from the network under the category of offers to buy, offers to sell and other opportunity. This facility is being utilised by members.

To conclude, export opportunities is knocking the door, organisations are established to assist you. It needs only the initiative on exporters' end to be a partner of International Trade.

accounted for 20% of total world exports. More than two-thirds of their exports went to industrialised countries. Exports from the Eastern-bloc countries were less than 10% of the world total. These countries took less than 4% of the total of industrialised-country exports and 7% of the total exports of the less-developed countries.

The World Trade which was estimated in 1993 at around 4500 billion $ is expected to grow to 7500 billion $ by 2001 AD. The beneficiary of additional volume of the trade expected to be generated during these years will be mainly developed countries and developing countries. India should take advantage and get reasonable share in this volume. Before we look at the present status of export in the country, let us look at India's Policy.

The main objectives of Indian Economic Policy are rapid economic growth and equitable distribution of benefits of growth. The growth of agriculture and industrial development have been identified as important areas of rapid economic growth. Government has taken many decisions over liberalization and streamlining of trade, export policy, procedures, investment rules for promoting international trade of the country. India's programme of economic reforms, which started in 1991, lays emphasis on bringing about growth in the economy by boosting International Trade. The objective is to:

- ☐ Create a liberal environment for trade by simplifying and streamlining the procedure for import and export.
- Rationalise import barriers and bring tariffs down (import duties have come down from the peak of 300 per cent before 1991 to 40% currently).
- Make the rupee fully convertible in the next 2/3 years, although convertibility on Current Account has already been fully implemented.
- Orient the economy from import substitution to export promotion, moving from quantitative restrictions to tariff restructuring and improving competitiveness of the Indian Industry to meet global requirements.

Let us look at the export scenario of the country. The Indian economy is bestowed with rich resources - material and manpower - with vast forex earning potential. It is not unknown that India in the beginning of 20th century accounted for one tenth of the World trade. Even at the time of independence, our share was 2.5% much higher than Japan and in 1960s, it was over 1% higher than that of today's Asian tigers like Korea, Taiwan, Singapore and Hongkong. India's trade status have got deteriorated over the years largely owing to our emphasis on import substitution rather than

Medium Term Export Strategy

Introduction

India has taken important policy initiatives since July 1991 to prepare for a period of rapid export growth and to become a major player in an increasingly inter-dependent world economy. The policy reforms provided a free and conducive environment for trade and included various promotional measures which helped to achieve the high export growth rates in recent years. While the trend of growth is maintained, a slow down was witnessed since June 1996. This called for a comprehensive policy appraisal as also a review of the changing industrial and trading environment with a view to infusing a new growth impetus to the export sector. Recognising the recent slow down in world export growth affecting individual performance of developed and developing countries and the increasingly competitive environment, a medium term strategy has been envisaged to sustain high growth in the export sector and to achieve a larger share for India in world trade.

The medium term strategy recognises that export growth can pick up only if exports continue to be viable and profitable. Export competitiveness needs to be improved in the context of the strengthening of rupee vis-a-vis South East Asian currencies and developed countries' currencies by removing other constraints affecting India's exports and trade transaction costs. The objectives of the medium term strategy are to improve competitiveness of Indian exports, enhance the production base for exports in keeping with the trends in world trade, improving efficiency and sharpening the competitive edge, focusing on quality and technology upgradation, addressing the infrastructural bottlenecks and strengthening the institutional infrastructure available for export production and marketing. Some of the elements of medium term strategy addressing the above objectives have already been realised.

- Identification of thrust items like electronics including software and garments where formalities and procedures have been streamlined and simplified besides facilitating free trade flows;
- ☐ Procedural simplification has reduced scope for subjective interpretation of policy and procedures and consequent delays;
- Export incentives have been strengthened by taking efforts to maintain an attractive SIL premium and through the fiscal benefit of tax exemption of export profits;

India's exports during April-December 1997 were valued at US$ 25.01 billion which is 3.37% higher than that of April-December '96. In terms of rupees, the export growth during this period is estimated at 6.00% with an increase of about Rs. 10,000 crores.

Imports during this period were valued at US$ 29.48 billion which is 7.4% higher than in April-December '96. The trade deficit during this period is estimated at US$ 4.47 billion.

Export Scenario -Gujarat : An Overview

Gujarat is also contributing a significant volume of export of cut and polished diamond, organic and inorganic chemicals, dyes & intermediates, Isabgol, drugs & pharmaceuticals, marine products, ready-made garments, granite, castor oil and its derivatives, oil cakes, etc. These items are exported from Kandla and Mumbai, Jawaharlal Nehru Port and also from minor ports located in Gujarat. It has been estimated that Gujarat's export which was worth about Rs. 70 crores in 1967-68 has increased approximately Rs. 9780 crores as per the report prepared for the State Government by Gujarat Industrial & Technical Consultancy Organisation Ltd (GITCO) in April, 1996. According to one estimate, Gujarat contributes about 16 to 17% of the total export of the country which is also a major finding of the above report.

Based on the present export and investment scenario, it is expected that Gujarat will have better share in export of various commodities. Govt. of Gujarat has also taken keen interest in development of infrastructure required for export in terms of development of ports, availability of power, improvement of roads, etc. In addition the State Government has declared 100% EOUs as the Thrust Industries for the purpose of incentives. The brief details of the actions taken by State Government are mentioned below:

- 1. The first multi-purpose export Promotion Zonc (EPZ) has been established at Kandla Free Trade Zone in 1965. The Zone is operating with about 100 units. The total export from this Zone was more than Rs. 460 crores during 1997-98 which is highest since its inception. The State Government has exempted payment of sales tax for purchase of raw material from DTA units located in this zone.
- 2. The first private sector export promotion zone for locating 100% EOU of the country is established in Surat.
- 3. The Govt. of India have advised the State Government for setting up Export Promotion Industrial Park (EPIP)where Govt. of India would share the expense to the tune of Rs. 10 crores initially for creation of infrastructure. Gujarat Industrial Development Corporacompetitiveness and strengthening the production base for exports through specific policy measures. Some of these are summarised in the following sections.

Sectoral Strategy

India's present export basket consists of a limited range of products accounting for a major share of exports such as textiles, gems & jewellery, leather and manufactures, engineering goods, electronics, agro-products, plantations and ores & minerals. The sectoral strategy has the twin objective of (i) widening and deepening our exports of existing products to existing and new markets and (ii) diversification of the export basket in tune with the trends in world exports and exports from developing countries. The sector specific issues in strategy are covered below.

Gems & Jewellery

Gem & jewellery constitutes a sizeable segment of the total world merchandise exports with India being a major player in the world diamond market in value and quantity terms with 7 out of 10 cut and polished diamonds in the world market originating from India. Yet our share in studded and gold jewellery in total world trade is about one percent offering immense potential for growth.

Gem & jewellery is the single most important sector accounting for about 13% of our exports. In the current year 1997-98 our export in this sector continues to be sluggish because of domestic and international factors. The drop in the off-take in a major market like Japan has seriously affected the growth of the industry. Considerable efforts have already been made to ease the domestic policy environment to encourage gem & jewellery exports and to ensure product diversification in gold jewellery through a facility to sell rough diamond up to 5% of the value of imports, re-export of rough diamonds upto 10% without value addition by bulk licence holders and issue of second bulk licence to facilitate easy flow of raw materials.

In the gold jewellery sector, India's share in world trade has improved from 0.65% in 1991 to 1.08% in 1995 while the potential is still immense. In order to give relief to this sector, in consultation with the Ministry of Finance and RBI, the gold import policy have been completely liberalised and the duty structure on import of gold has also been rationalised. Now gold can be freely imported by four nominated agencies and eight authorised banks for both exports and domestic market and an uniform duty of Rs.220/- per 10 gm. will be levied for sale of gold to the domestic market. This will make gold adequately available to all manufacturers. This bold step has been taken to give a boost to our gold industry so that India can compete with others to increase its world share of gold jewellery exports.

In order to give a further boost to this sector, the following measures had been taken in the EXIM Policy 1997-2002:

- To send trade missions to explore new markets, lay down quality and packaging standards according to international norms and look into complaints, if any.
- ☐ To disseminate the information and create awareness amongst exporters and prospective entrepreneurs.

Present Activities of GITPC

Since inception of GITPC, it has been carrying out activities for providing guidance to set up export business to the new exporters, arranging training on Exim Policy and Procedures, organising seminars, workshops, etc.

It has been instrumental for disseminating the information on market potential and opportunities to assist the exporters. The Council has also been representing State Government on Grievance Committee constituted by Office of Jt. DGFT, State Level Export Promotion Committee (SLEPC) constituted by Reserve Bank of India and Western Chapter of FIEO.

The Council also organised high level business delegation visit under the leadership of the then Chief Minister to South Africa. Also recently in March 1996, GITPC has undertaken a delegation visit to Indonesia, Malaysia, Singapore and Thailand. GITPC is a member of World Trade Centre Network, New York.

Following are the highlights of the major activities carried out by GITPC:

- 1. Gujarat International Trade Promotion Council registers members on annual basis starting from 1st October upto 30th September next year. About 200 members are registered with the Council.
- 2. The Council organise training programmes, workshops, open house lecture series for members of GITPC and other exporters.
- 3. In August 1995, the Council had orgaised seminar 'Doing Business with The Netherlands' which was attended by more than 150 participants. The Seminar discussed possibilities of increasing bilateral trade, transfer of technology, establishing joint ventures, etc. This was followed by another programme of the series organised in August 1996 when main emphasis was laid on one-to-one discussions. Thereafter a high level delegation led by the Foreign Trade Minister of The Netherlands visited Ahmedabad in October 1996 when third programme of the series was organised. During her visit, she also opened trade office of The Netherlands in Ahmedabad. On 8th April, 1997, the Council organised on "Doing Business with Sweden" in association with GCCI. Similarly, on 22nd May, 1998, a presentation on "Doing Business with Taiwan" by Mr Nick Chang, MD, Taipiti World Centre was organised.

so that there is easy availability of raw materials at a competitive price compared to goods imported from secondary markets. Under this provision, private parties will be allowed to operate bonded warehouses of rough diamond for sale to the manufacturers against licence and can also re-export the unsold quantity without any value addition.

Coloured Gemstones

In global market of coloured gemstones, synthetic stones and other semi-precious stones, India's competitiveness is limited by the poor quality of local raw materials and consequent over-dependence on imports which attract high duty. In spite of our traditional skills in cutting and polishig of coloured gemstones, we have not been able to encash our comparative advantage in the world market. In order to promote this sector, the following medium term strategy has been outlined:

- Making India a trading centre for rough gemstones by allowing duty free imports for exports of cut and polished stones. This will not only help in developing international trade in India for coloured gemstones but also give an easy access to manufacturers of studded jewellery.
- Zero duty import of synthetic stones (diamonds) for exports. India has very marginal share in the five billion US$ market primarily due to high incidence of costs including custom duty which is at currently 10%.
- ☐ Encouraging the State Governments for scientific mining of their gem mines.
- ☐ Modernisation of manufacturing centres by upgradation of technology, particularly in standardisation and size-calibration of gemstones.

The efforts of Ministry of Commerce to simplify the availability of gold have since been realised and it is proposed to ease the problem in import and availability of semi-precious stones, coloured gemstones, etc. to help exports and studded jewellery. These measures would help restructuring the gem & jewellery sector for high growth.

Electronic Hardware & Computer Softwar

During 1996-97, total world electronic trade was estimated at US$ 900 billion; India's share at US$ 2.54 billion constituted only 0.28%. The electronic and computer software sector has emerged as one of the most dynamic sectors in India's exports recording an average growth of around 30% in the last 6 years with a nearly 30% export intensity. Yet India's presence in world market is still small, giving considerable scope for accelerated growth. It is estimated that by the year 2001, the world market

Promotional activities would included dissemination of opportunities in IT related services, efforts to formulate a clear relocation policy to help shift major foreign production units to India, encouraging strategic alliance between SMEs in India and other countries, sourcing by multinationals and project export and sub-assemblies to CIS, Africa and Latin America.

Textiles

World trade in textiles was valued at $153 billion in the year 1995 accounting for 3.1% share in total world merchandise trade in 1995. As per WTO data, India's share in world textile exports is put at around 3% with an annual percentage change placed at 15% during the period 1990-95. World trade in clothing is valued at $158 billion in 1995 with an 8% annual percentage change during 1990-95. In view of the predominance of textile industry in India's economy, textile exports account for over 25% of India's export basket.

The textile sector has reported a low export growth in the first four months of 1997-98 partly due to the decelerated performance of the garment sector and the restrictions imposed by EU on grey fabric and bedlinen. The export strategy recognises garment as an important segment in India's textile exports and facilities are already being provided for easy import of fabrics, samples and accessories to help garment exporters. The problem faced by a reduction in the drawback rate has been partially solved. The strategy would focus on duty free import of embellishments, trimmings, etc. upto a percentage of export values by covering additional items to the existing list, duty free EPCG scheme for textile sector with the threshold limit of Rs. 1 crore investment and notifications regarding fabric flexibility. envisaged that duty free EPCG scheme for garment and the import of embellishment would help improve export growth. However, strong competition from neighbouring countries would continue owing to their lower labour cost. It seems necessary to ensure forward and backward linkages in the textile sector to improve the competitiveness; a Cotton Technology Mission for improvement in productivity of cotton, modernisation of processing units through special schemes, raising of investment limits in SSI areas subject to 50% export obligation are important action plans for accelerated exports of the textile sector. On the procedural side, relaxation of the compulsory import of cotton by yarn exporters to enable free export of yarn without restrictions would ease present constraints. The Ministry of Commerce is conceptualising a new scheme with benefits accruing for physical exports to help use of indigenous material in a selective manner linked to exports. A concept paper is being prepared regarding setting up of garment parks which would enjoy advantages of EPZ and EOUs but provide the additional infrastructural and facilitation measures from ports to garment parks. To provide design inputs, NIFT is already expanding in 6 centres within India.

Detailed market studies are proposed to be taken up in the emerging and important markets to increase exports. Export promotional programmes like participation in exhibitions, buyer-seller meet will be conducted by EEPC's foreign offices.

The engineering exports have exhibited an average growth rate of 15.1% during the last five years. At the expected average rate of growth of 20% the above strategy is headed for a total exports in the terminal year 2002-03 to be around US$ 9.8 billion.

Chemical and allied products

The chemical sector accounted for 9.3% of total world merchandise trade in 1994, while the share of this sector in world exports of manufacture was 12.5% in the same year. However, India's share in the world exports of these items in 1994 was negligible, below 1%, except in case of tanning and colouring material (1.5%) and medicinal and pharmaceutical products (1%). India's export basket of chemical and allied products consist of a wide range of commodities including drugs, pharmaceuticals, fine chemicals, organic, inorganic and agro chemicals, dyes and intermediates, cosmetics and toiletries, paints, enamels and varnishes, plastics, etc. The chemical and allied products accounts for nearly 13% of our exports. The growth in the sector in 1994-95 and 1995-96 was 30.3% and 28.6% respectively. The sector recorded a 13% growth during 1996-97.

The export growth in the chemical sector has slowed down on account of a number of factors. The international market in the chemical and allied products is highly competitive. The industry is heavily dependent upon power, fuel, water, which account for substantial portion of the cost of production. The poor quality of power supply affects the continuous processing units in the chemical sector seriously. The overall effect of the recent increase in the price of petroleum based products in the chemical sector is estimated at 6%. The high cost of power, fuel and the freight suffered by the producers of high volume products like chemicals and dyestuffs affects the competitiveness of the industry in the international market. The recurring efforts by the European Union to launch anti dumping/anti subsidy proceedings on allegations of subsidised export of bulk drugs, plastic woven sacks and synthetic fibre ropes have also affected exports. Tedious and time consuming registration procedures with excessive data requirements imposed by the Department of Agriculture are affecting exports of pesticides and agro chemicals. There is a growing tendency by developed countries to use various methods under the guise of technological/technical requirements for creating trade barriers in this sector by demanding technical/plant inspections which often take more than a year during which time imports are discouraged until the clearance/approval has been obtained.

- A sector specific approach has helped to overcome difficulties faced due to pollution and environment related issues affecting leather, marine products sectors;
- ☐ Infrastructural improvements have addressed the delay in the clearance of import and export consignments, delays in the movement of containers to the ports and waiting period at the ports, availability of direct container shipping vessels to reduce time and costs, removal of procedural difficulties in cargo clearances;
- A phased reduction in interest rates on export credit has been brought about with reduction in interest rate on pre-shipment credit, removal of penal rate of interest on post-shipment credit and introduction of FCNR-B Schemes to provide export credit at "LIBOR plus" interest rate;
- ☐ Special efforts have been made to fully liberalise garments and electronics sector as special focus sector by completely freeing from physical control;
- At the initiative of the Prime Minister, a High Powered Export
 Promotion Board (EPB) under the Chairmanship of Cabinet Secretary has been constituted with the authority to take such measures as necessary to reduce transaction costs and delays, simplify procedures and ensure inter-departmental coordination;
- ☐ A directional strategy to new and emerging markets such as Latin America, Africa and CIS countries has been planned;
- ☐ A focussed effort made to identify thrust items in major export sectors in which industrial production could concentrate for exports etc.;
- □ Export promotion schemes such as EPZs/EOUs/EPCG/EPIP for adequate export promotion have been strengthened.

A special scheme to dispense with the demand of central excise duty in advance and claiming reimbursement later at least in certain categories of deemed exports, scheme for facilitating project exports and simplified procedures for purchase of goods and major buying arrangements like departmental stores are in the process of being formulated.

While these initiatives will help sustain the growth and form part of the continued efforts to improve exports, the strategy aims at attaining $ 90 billion in exports in the medium term and a one percent share for India in world exports. The strategy is envisaged in terms of initiatives and efforts required sectorally and in specific markets besides improving

Ministry of Commerce has been actively interacting with concerned Ministries and agencies to give integrated support to the chemical and allied products sector in order to boost exports. Ministry of Commerce has pursued with Ministry of Agriculture to expedite the clearance of all registration of applications for exports of pesticides and agro chemicals and to simplify and streamline the existing registration procedures. Similarly, initiative had been taken with the Ministry of Environment and Forests to allow the use of certain plant species as raw material for export of value added herbal formulations and relax various restrictions imposed on manufacture for exports as regards, Ministry of Health, Dept. of Chemicals and Petrochemicals, etc. are also being followed up vigorously.

Agricultural Products

World exports of agricultural products were at $579 billion in 1995 representing 11.8% of world merchandise exports and growing at 5-6 per cent per annum in recent years. Of this, food accounted for about 80% while agricultural raw material 20%. India has been exporting agricultural products as raw products, semi-processed and processed items. India's exports in this sector include commodities and processed food items. While in the past items like raw cotton, cashew, spices, tobacco, soyabean accounted for substantial share of agro-exports, now non-basmati rice, wheat and wheat products have also become important items of export. Exports of agricultural products have slowed down in 1997-98 on account of several decision such as suspension of wheat and wheat flour exports, registration of exports of rice contracts and imposition of quantitative ceilings on export of pulses.

Hence, the strategy focuses on efforts in ensuring a consistent medium term policy for exports of rice (both basmati and non-basmati), wheat products and pulses. The policy also seeks support for exempting rice exports from levy obligation. This will enable exporters to make long term commitments to markets and envisage creation of distribution channels abroad. The strategy would also focus on improving infrastructure for movement of bulk items in terms of priority allotment of rakes, berthing ships and mechanisation of ports. For continued export of high value basmati rice, steps need to be taken for assuring quality which would cover areas such as mapping of basmati growing areas, identifying basmati growers and processors to establish linkage of produce from farm to exports. Further a legislation for protection of geographical indications need to be put in place which would enable basmati rice to be protected in overseas markets.

To enable exports of special products like cashew which require imports and re-processing for exports, the strategy would involve enhancing production and productivity of special commodities in the domestic area; enable large scale cultivation of special commodities exclusively for

- Third party exports have been allowed in order to encourage the small manufacturers and exporters.
- The period for export under the various jewellery schemes has been increased by 30 days in both DTA and EOU/EPZ. In order to further help the exporters in EOU/EPZ who will be operating without graded bank guarantee, 150 days will be allowed to them for export provided they convert loan into outright purchase by paying the full amount.
- ☐ The prior import conditions against advance licences have been deleted in order to facilitate the advance licence route.

In order to further facilitate advance licence route, domestic procurement has also been permitted.

- □ EOU/EPZ units have been given for the first time an opportunity to sell their products in DTA upto 10%.
- □ EOU/EPZ have been permitted to exchange gold chains on quantity to quantity basis with DTA.
- □ Samples made in wax, silver and rubber are permitted for export upto a value of Rs.10,000/- in order to facilitate display of Indian jewellery abroad.
- ☐ Hand carriage of jewellery has been allowed from EOUs/EPZs.

In order to put this sector on a high tangent of growth the following medium term strategy has been adopted:

- ☐ Establishment of designing and manufacturing centres to cater to the changing requirements of the world market.
- □ Entry into new markets and intensification of generic promotion in the existing traditional markets.
- ☐ Encouraging the trade to adopt hallmarking and assaying to establish India as a reliable supplier of quality goods.
- Hindustan Diamond Company Ltd. will increase the supply of makeables and sawables to the manufacturers where the possibility of higher value addition exists.

Following further strategy is being firmed up:

☐ Introduction of private bonded warehouse scheme for rough diamonds to establish India as a trading centre for rough diamonds in electronic sector will be in the range of US$ 1200 billion and India targets at reaching US$ 10 billion which will quadruple India's present share in world trade from 0.28% to 0.83% by 2001.

In the electronic sector, it is noted that the export growth in the hardware sector is slowing down owing to a slowdown in the domestic industry growth while the software sector is growing at over 40%. The strategy for hardware sector would include the identification to focus on six to ten areas in the hardware sector for concentration of domestic production and new investment in keeping with the resource endowment in India and the world market trends; besides market diversification to Central Asia, Russia and Africa is an important element of the strategy for hardware including consumer electronics.

As regards software, the strategy will include the following components:

- ☐ Efforts to ease the working capital requirements of the software industry in consultation with the RBI and to consider new guidelines if required since software is 'a mind industry' and not a manufacturing industry.
- ☐ Special scheme for accessing venture capital requirements especially for encouraging products and packages developed by the Indian companies.
- ☐ Encourages the setting up of training centres and institutions with the support of SIDBI with main frame facilities.
- The HRD initiatives include increasing the intake of undergraduates and post-graduates in Computer Science in the IITs, RECs, IIS (Bangalore) and selected institutions, the proposal to set up an Indian Institute of Information Technology in Bhopal and setting up of a research centre under the DoE. The facility to augment in-house
 - training support for export firms would be improved through support of financial institutions.
- On the procedural side, efforts would be made to remove physical bonding restrictions for software exports similar to that achieved for aquaculture, floriculture, etc.
- ☐ MoC is actively interacting with DoE, RBI and banks to give integrated support to the software industry in particular.
- Special efforts are being made to allow the third shift in women's employment in EPZ in consultation with the Ministry of Labour.

Some of the steps already taken to facilitate growth of this industry include trial transportation of mangoes by controlled atmosphere containers through sea, enhancement of shelf life of lychees through post-harvest treatment, setting up of Vapour Heat Treatment Plant for mangoes, establishment of integrated cargo handling facilities for perishable products at Delhi airport and new facilities at Bangalore, Trivandrum, Hyderabad and Chennai airport, introduction of HACCP in food processing units, upgradation and recognition of laboratories, assisting units in obtaining ISO certification and preparation of pre and post harvest manuals for specified products.

The other measures in the strategy would be to enhance capacity utilisation by the oil processing industry to help increased exports of de-oiled cakes, permitting imports of soyabean with obligation to export oil meals, import of oil seeds to enhance domestic availability of edible oil, etc. Product diversification in this important sector would aim at encouraging exports of processed and ready to eat products such as processed and preserved fruits, ready to cook vegetables, preserved and prepared vegetables which are high value items and which do not endanger food security of the country. Policy support to this sector would be directed at legal framework to facilitate captive farming and encouragement of foreign direct investment in packaging, special chemicals and equipment manufacturing.

Leather and Leather products

Though the global trade in leather and leather products was of the order of US$ 37 billion in 1994 and India is one of the biggest producers of hides and skins, India's share in world market has only been around 4%.

Since 1991-92, the leather sector has contributed around 5.5% of the value of total exports from India. Leather and leather goods exports have been valued at $ 1.5 billion since 1994-95 and a target of US$ 2 billion has been fixed for the year 1997-98. The deceleration in exports, witnessed in 1996-97, was primarily due to the closure of the tanneries in Tamilnadu and West Bengal, following the order of the Hon'ble Supreme Court for establishment of effluent treatment plants at these tanneries. The time taken to erect these CETP has adversely affected the availability of leather and consequently production and export of, not only finished leather, but leather footwear tool, leading to a drop in performance. In addition, domestic recession in our export destinations in Europe has contributed to the prevailing slow growth/decline.

Effective measures have already been taken in consultation with the Ministry of Environment in implementing pollution control measure under a Centrally supported scheme with active participation by the State Governments. The scheme provides for setting up Common Effluent Treatment Plant (CETP) with a 25% subsidy from the Central Government

Engineering goods

Engineering exports are a major component of the total export effort of India and have approximately constituted 11 to 12% of India's total exports during the last several years. During the last five years, engineering exports grew at the average of 15.1%. During 1996-97, engineering exports (excluding management and technical services) constituted 12% of the total Indian exports. Engineering exports exhibited a growth of 9.2% over the previous year, totalling US$ 3941 million against US$ 3607 million during the previous year. Exports of engineering products during April-August 1997 have been US$ 1752.29 million registering a growth of 13.22% in dollar terms over the same period last year. The growth has been 16% in rupee terms.

Viewed in the global context, however, engineering exports from India constitute a negligible percentage of total world trade in engineering products. During 1995, the estimated global trade in engineering products (excluding electronics and services) was US$ 1510 billion (UNCTAD figures). India contributed only 0.24% to this trade. However, this was an improvement over India's performance in 1992 when it contributed only 0.18% to the global trade in engineering products.

The salient features of the strategy shall be as under:

- As far as the infrastructural problems are concerned, coordination with various agencies for removing the bottlenecks, for example, parking, berthing facilities in ports shall be taken up. A new terminal has been commissioned in JNPT, Mumbai for accommodation of vehicles and the project is expected to be completed in three years time.
- Stringent pollution control norms imposed by CPCB on casting and forgings furnaces have led to closure of a large number of units. Revision of CPCB norms is being pursued besides requesting for SIDBI assistance on liberal terms for technical upgradation.
- A task force will be constituted in the Ministry of Commerce to identify engineering product groups where India has a long terms comparative advantage vis-a-vis its competitors and recommend a suitable policy package for consideration of the Government.
- ☐ Initiatives shall be taken for extension of zero duty EPCG limit for capital goods imports for the engineering sector having a large concentration of small scale industries such as bicycles, castings, forgings, handtools, etc. the idea being reduction of the present limit of Rs.20 crores.

It is proposed to provide assistance to avail institutional funds for upgradation of technology of the tanning units together with product development in down stream ancillary sector.

The action plan formulated for product development and product promotion to capture new markets will be implemented through the FDDI.

Efforts will be made to ensure adequate flow of bank funds to the leather sector in Tamil Nadu.

Plantation

Exports of tea and coffee from the plantation sector account for about 3% share in India's total exports. In the current year, while performance of tea is improved, a slow-down is noted in coffee exports.

Tea

World export of tea in 1996 was 1102 million kgs. while India's exports were 159 million kgs. representing a share of 14.4%. Tea exports suffered major problems mainly due to disintegration of Russian markets and high production cost vis-a-vis competitors. The strategy recognises the thrust required for tea in value- added form, need for warehousing facilities in Russia, improvement in packaging standard, product development towards a new product mix of tea and brand promotions with distributive network in select markets.

Coffee

World export of coffee was US$ 13854 million in 1994 with India's export valued at US$ 338 million representing over 2% market share. The major problems in improving India's share arise from lack of product identity, low volume presence in global market and absence of value-added products in coffee such as de- caffinated/soluble coffee. The strategy would focus on quality certification by the Coffee Board to authorise laboratories to ensure coffee quality, brand building of India logo, creation of brand alliance in the premium market, exploration of Japanese Market for value-added product, undertake quality upgradation programme in select coffee producing districts besides efforts to increase the coffee input.

Marine Products

Exports of marine products account for around 3.5% of India's total exports. Last year, exports slowed down but has improved in performance in the current year. The strategy includes measure to increase the availability of raw material for processing and value addition, import of raw marine products for processing for exports and guidelines for application engineering by taking up the problems of fishermen to research institutions. Quality upgradation especially to meet the stringent quality standards required in EU, USA and Japan would receive major attention in terms of good infrastructural facilities for "peeling sheds", modernisation of processing plants, improvement of all the existing major and minor fishing harbours and landing sites by renovating the existing platforms and roofs

In order to achieve the targeted growth rate of 15% for 1997-98 in the chemical and allied products sector the strategy will include the following components:

- Focus on selected products in this sector which have the potential for high growth including drugs and pharmaceuticals, dye and dye intermediates, agro chemicals, automobile tyres and tubes, rubber manufactured products, cement and clinkers, glass and glassware, paints, enamels and allied products and plastic moulded extruded goods, plastic woven sacks, floor coverings, and writing instruments.
- ☐ Identifying new and potential markets including those in the South Asian and East Asian Region, South Africa, Latin America, Australia, New Zealand and Israel.
- ☐ Identifying areas for product diversification particularly among consumer products through marketing, consultancy/research surveys in both existing and potential markets.
- Regular participation in specialised fairs to generate adequate awareness of India's capability in specific product groups.
- Arranging buyer seller meets for facilitating trade contacts in the potential markets.
- Arranging tie-ups with leading departmental stores in major markets for exhibitions/sales of imported goods, plastic articles and also herbal/ayurvedic products which have a growing popularity in the West.
- Export of chemical and allied products requires special infrastructural facilities. Existing constraints in this area would need to be identified and referred to the concerned authorities for evolving early solutions to the same.
- The possibility of creating warehousing facilities at strategic points to facilitate quick servicing of the export orders would also need to be seriously explored recognising that infrastructure related problems may not be quickly resolved.
- There is also a need to shift emphasis from generic products to branded products and specialised products particularly among the pharmaceutical, ayurvedic and herbal group of products.

The limited range being catered to by India includes wooden toys and mechanical toys and it would be necessary to diversify into electronic toys, stuffed toys, indoor games and knowledge based games in which India could play an important role.

Ores and Minerals

Export of ores and minerals has slowed down owing to infrastructural problems resulting in high demurrage charges and also due to quantity ceilings. The export strategy would focus on efforts to raise the quantity ceilings for exports of ores and minerals and efforts to revamp handling equipment in Vizag port and provision of new equipment in Goa. The renewal of mine-leases by the State Government on an annual basis has slowed down exports of granite and infused some uncertainity resulting in competition from Brazil, China and Spain. Annual renewal of mine leases is a major problem being faced by the Granite exporters and efforts are being made to pursue with State Governments regarding a long term policy on leasing of mines to exporters. Efforts to increase value-added products in granite are given a special focus which will also be beneficial to States in terms of the employment potential and the technology in producing value-added products.

Directional Strategy and Diversification

The destination pattern of India's exports during 1990-91 to 1995-96 indicates that nearly 57 percent represents India's trade with OECD countries, OPEC 9 percent, Eastern Europe 6.7 percent, developing countries other than OPEC 22 percent and others 5 percent. A trend analysis indicates that the share of OECD particularly West Europe and North America has remained significant for India's exports since 1960-61. Asia and Oceania have emerged as important destination for both imports and exports since last decades accounting roughly for 40 percent of India's exports. The current year performance indicates that while exports to EU improved this year, exports to USA, Asia and Pacific have slowed down. There is, however, improvement in the exports to Africa, Latin America and CIS countries.

The strategy would focus on deepening and widening trade with all countries including the emerging markets with special emphasis on market promotion measures through information dissemination, sponsoring of business delegation buyer-seller meets, participation in trade fairs, etc. Specifically emphasis will be placed on setting up warehouses at crucial points in the region to facilitate stock and sale of exports. For Europe product diversification would include health goods, pharmaceuticals, ayurvedic and herbal products besides improving hygiene and quality of marine products to the EU. In North America, the strategy would consolidate our position in Gem & Jewellery and textiles besides deepening in other products such as engineering, chemicals, leather and leather products and software. In view exports; upgradation of processing and packaging technology to meet the needs of the overseas consumers; development of value-added products for exports. It is necessary to permit import of specialised packaging machinery to facilitate acceptable packaging of food products which is essential for the overseas markets.

Exports of traditional processed items such as spices, shellac, edible nuts and seeds and tobacco are facing problems in overseas markets on account of sanitary and phytosanitary measures adopted by importing countries because of presence of pesticide residues, aflatoxins, etc. For exports of these products to grow, it is imperative that the farm practices are improved which discourages the use of pesticides banned abroad and leads to production of products meeting the international requirements. In case of tobacco, there is an urgent need to develop low tar, low nicotine tobacco which is preferred in the international markets. Currently most of the tobacco exported from India is used as a filler and is not the base material. Domestic production of the base material and encouragement of export of manufactured products would enahance earnings from this area. In case of spices some headway has been made in export of spices in packaged form and in export of spice oils and oleoresins. This effort needs to be further consolidated by process upgradation, product quality development and improved packaging. Alternate centres for cardamom auctions are proposed to be set up in Mumbai similar to the strategy adopted for spices with the view to ensuring better prices to the farmers. Diversification in areas such as chilly paste and powder, levy of uniform cess on all spices exports for supporting developmental activities and training programme for processing of new spices are important steps in the strategy.

It is recognised that India being the second largest producer of fruits in the world there is immense potential and variety for promoting exports of fruits, vegetables, flowers, etc. Production of certain items such as flowers, fruits, organic farm produce, mushroom, gherkins, broccoli, orchids, etc. have been initiated with exports in view. These products are produced mainly for export markets and domestic sale is made only to tide over the mismatch in supply and international demand. Some of the steps required to facilitate growth of this industry are establishment of cold chain link from farmgate to ports/airports thereby enhancing shelf life and keeping quality; establishment of sorting, grading, waxing and curing centres; establishment of perishable handling facilities at ports and airports; development of appropriate technology for transportation of these items by sea, a cost effective method of transportation, through controlled atmosphere containers, reefer containers, etc.; development of appropriate packaging materials; enhancing availability of pesticides, insecticides and plant nutrients imports which are not currently permitted.

focused thrust in 1995, etc. These strategies have helped diversification of India's export basket. Yet the dynamics of markets and products in India's exports indicate an interesting pattern in the 15 x 15 matrix where the ranking of commodities has changed with new products appearing among the top exports and new countries emerging for the top products.

The world trade is concentrated on a number of items in which India's present share is very low. A review of the top 200 items of world trade in 1994 at 3 digit level which accounted for 95 per cent of world trade reyeals that India's exports are nil or negligible in 71 items; also India does not figure in many manufactured products which are fast growing items in world trade. An analysis of world trade data reveals that India has missed out on the global trade opportunities in general and trade opportunities for developing countries in particular during 1980- 92 owing to the restrictive policies adopted. India's share in world exports of rice, leather and manufactures, gems & jewellery, tea, spices, coffee remained significant though decreasing recently; the share of items like organic/inorganic chemicals, metal manufactures, fish and preparations is increasing. While diversifying India's export basket, it is necessary to include many items which account for a larger share in world exports, which are fast moving items in world trade and originate from developing countries as this alone would help India improving her share in world exports. Based on a detailed analysis of available data, a set of 'next generation' export products have been identified such as medical and pharmaceutical products, iron & steel primary forms, textile yarn, office machines, paper and paper board, telecom equipment parts & accessories, passenger motor vehicles including buses, automotive components, other machinery for special industries, internal combustion engine, civil engineering equipment, fish and fresh chilled frozen, organic and inorganic components, rubber tyres, tubes, agricultural machinery excluding tractors, engines, motors, electronic items including toys. Besides these items India's presence in leather and leather products, garments, handicrafts, marine products and plantation products is already significant in world exports. It is proposed to set up task forces to recommend measures required to expand production base in these items and divert domestic production to exports of these manufactured products in the short run with the view to achieving a 25-30 per cent export growth annually in these products. Task forces have already been set up to identify thrust items in electronic and engineering sectors and to initiate measures that will help expand production base and export competitiveness.

Market diversification is proposed especially in the top 15 items of India's present export basket after analysing the data on world in these 15 items and the major importers. This analysis has revealed that while India's exports are already covering important world markets, our presence is not and a 25% contribution by the State Government. The matter is being pursued with the Tamilnadu State Government for ensuring 25% support and the scheme would substantially help tanners in meeting pollution standards laid down. The State Government of West Bengal is also in the process of setting up of integrated leather complex to relocate approximately 550 tanneries along with ancillary leather units, leather chemicals plants, etc. with 25% contribution from the Centre, 25% from the State Government and possible support from both industry and financial institutions. The total cost of the proposed CETP will be around Rs. 65 crores. These two schemes would provide substantial support in overcoming the major problem being faced by the leather sector to restructure the leather industry along the modern lines. There are some problems in securing funds for the common effluent plant and this is being looked into.

Apart from the availability of leather, it is also necessary to shift to high value footwear and leather goods manufacture. As per current policy, the leather footwear sector including components is reserved for the small scale sector with an investment ceiling of Rs. 60 lakhs which is inadequate as economies of scale require a minimum investment of Rs. 5 crores for a unit producing atleast 1500 pairs of shoes per day. Commerce Ministry is pursuing with the Ministry of Industry for re-reservation of footwear and a few other leather products to attract large scale investment including foreign direct investment. This will be restricted to sectors other than low cost footwear which will continue to be reserved for SSI.

In addition, to reduce the cost of tanning, it is proposed that input cost on imported raw materials is reduced as the industry will find it difficult to take recourse to advance licence or even DEPB being in the decentralised sector.

The leather manufactures in Uttar Pradesh are facing a two pronged problem. The first among these is the across the board multiple point imposition of "Mandi Samiti Fee" @ 2%, on the inter-district movement of all raw hides and skins and the leathers made from them. Government of UP has been apprised of this with a request for its removal, to enable the trade to remain competitive in the export market.

Separately, the UP Government has imposed a procedural hurdle on exporters by demanding Form No.31 under the UP Trade Tax Act. The incorrect implementation of the provisions of the UP Trade Tax Act, is restricting the free movement of sealed containers to and from the ICD at Kanpur. This matter has also been taken up with UP Government for a quick resolution so that exports do not suffer.

and strengthen the ECGC capabilities in business supported by ECGC and ensure profitable operational of the ECGC scheme.

Infrastructural requirements for exports

The availability of infrastructural facilities is crucial for development of exports; the mismatch between the availability of infrastructural facilities vis-a-vis export growth recent years has resulted n bottlenecks caused by road congestion and longer turnaround of the vehicles, delay at ports, shortage of air cargo capacities, etc. A surge in India's total foreign trade is envisaged in the Ninth Plan from US$ 68 billion in 1995-96 to US$ 180 billion by 2002. This effort has to be matched by adequate and efficient port infrastructure. The available estimates indicate that estimated value of sea borne trade by 2002 would be around US$ 126 billion involving a carriage of the total cargo handled at ports projected at 514 MT with the total investment required for creation of the additional capacity estimated at Rs. 45000 crores. In the short run, the focus of the strategy would be on continuation of power supply to vital sectors, identifying regions for developing off-shore warehousing facilities and identifying 2-3 ports for setting up new berths and handling equipment; besides key pressure points in infrastructure are being identified to divert resources for de-bottlenecking at these pressure points and cargo specialisation at ports is being attempted.

The medium term efforts are directed towards improving labour productivity in ports, automation, use of information technology and modernisation of customs clearance mechanism reduction in cost of containerisation and development of intermediate and minor ports in select locations already identified. Air cargo facilities are proposed to be upgraded with small investments for parking facilities, vehicle handling systems and earmarked area for unhindered loading and unloading facilities. Efforts would also be focussed on introducing a green card system for loaded trucks and containers to move without checking enroute and subject to verification at the destination.

Export Promotion Capital Goods (EPCG) Scheme

The EPCG Scheme has reduced the cost incidence on account of duty on capital goods in the export production costs while ensuring export obligation and export competitiveness. The EPCG licenses issued during the period 1990-91 to 1996-97 have projected cumulative export commitment amounting to Rs. 137117.33 crores; under the 15% EPCG Scheme, E.O. commitment have been realised for exports amounting to Rs. 15117.26 crores up to 1996-97 and envisages substantial export obligation commitment till 2002. The export performance under this scheme is reflected in sectors such as textiles, engineering, automobiles, drugs and chemicals, plastics, electronics, steel, frozen fruits and dairy products. The zero duty EPCG scheme will be increasingly availed of for its advantages in reducing the high capital cost incidence for domestic industry while and establishing a coordinating mechanism between the States and the Central Government. Steps have already been taken in the light of the EU ban to inspect and short list units complying with the basic sanitation and health requirements and a detailed manual of inspection of sea food industry has been drawn up for regular inspection of the exporting sea food industry. Measures would be taken to revamp the internal inspection system of EIC and enter into MoUs with importing countries guaranteeing the conformance of Indian sea food industry to meet the required standards. The strategy also includes development of new products such as live fish and ornamental fish, logo promotion for Indian sea foods, image building campaign for Indian sea foods and introduction of appropriate technology for packing of live products.

Sports Goods

Considerable potential has been identified for sports goods including toys in which world exports are valued at $33 billion; India presently has a share of only 0.4% despite being a dominant source of raw material for hides and skins, willow, cane, etc. The strategy would focus on diversification in the present composition of a limited range of sporting goods being exported in order to include high value items in sporting goods consistent with the resource availability in India.

The Indian sports goods industry is mainly in the small scale sector and the bulk of the export is from the SSI with production units located in and around few centres such as Jalandhar, Meerut, Calcutta and Delhi with approximately 2000 units in the SSI sector giving employment to over 1 lakh individuals. Yet, the contribution of the sector in the overall exports is very modest at 0.3% in 1996-97 with an almost negligible share in world exports as well. The main items are confined to football soccer, cricket, hockey and indoor games.

The strategy would focus on joint ventures in the following items, baseball gloves, baseballs, ski-clothing equipment, ice hockey accessories with the target markets such as Taiwan, South Korea, Japan, USA and Canada. A move away from small scale manufacture to large scale assembly or fabrication using imported raw material on the basis of 100% EOU system or by establishment of joint ventures with leading companies from the target countries is required to improve exports.

Foreign Direct Investment in sporting goods including toys would be crucial for widening the production base. Dereservation for SSI would be attempted on a selective basis in opening up those sectors not produced in SSI and for high value and value-added items. India has not exploited fully the potential available in the toys sector in which world trade is valued at $20 billion and developing countries in Asia have played an important role.

Active involvement of States

Since export production is dispersed in the country based in the resource endowment and skills, export promotional effort should necessarily ensure involvement of states. Recognising that export activity does not directly contribute to the revenue resources of the States, the strategy would look into the possibility of helping the State governments through Export Promotion Industrial Parks and Crucial Infrastructure Balancing schemes although it is recognised that export activity does bring in increased production, employment and competitive environment for quality products.

The initiatives taken by the government include the setting up of export processing zones, export promotion industrial parks as also growth centres to encourage production. Efforts are being made to collect statewise export data. It is envisaged that once the data flows become regular regarding state of origin of exports policy measures can be suitably designed to compensate the state governments for such contribution to export efforts.

Recognising that infrastructure at important locations is crucial and requires urgent attention, a special plan scheme is being implemented for providing critical infrastructure balance at designated pressure points. Six schemes have been approved in different states during 1996-97 and additional schemes are being processed which will meet the twin objectives of reducing infrastructural constraints and improving the infrastructure in states for enchancing contribution to exports.

Enhancement of investment limit for SSI sector for exports

Presently 822 items are reserved for SSI sector subject to an investment limit. The trade policy provides for setting up of units in this sector subject to a 75% export obligation. To facilitate technology upgradation, competitiveness and efficiency in the modern small scale industry, the strategy will focus on raising investment limit and further encourage investment in reserved sector subject to 50% export obligation. Experience has indicated that in sectors like leather, footwear, plastics, chemicals sector, considerable export potential exists for items currently reserved for SSI sector and other countries like China have registered high growth in exports in such product areas. The strategy supports selective dereservation of areas by raising investment limits against committed export obligation without adversely affecting the SSI and employment.

EOU/EPZ Scheme

The EOU scheme which is complementary to the earlier EPZ scheme has helped to expand the production base. At present, 893 units are in operation under the EOU scheme and 513 units in EPZ scheme. In 1996-97, units operating under the EPZ contributed to Rs. 4338.92 crores of exports. The EPZ scheme aims to provide a competitive duty free environment for export promotion but due to general tariff reduction this is losing attraction as a number of procedural constraints still continue even for EPZ units. A of the present low share of India's exports to Canada special commodity thrust would be placed on marine products, leather, tea and coffee, computer software, textiles and gems & jewellery to Canada besides exploring the high potential for services exports. In Russia and East Europe, efforts would be made to strengthen the export trade by diversifying the trade basket, setting up of Indian banks in Russia, creating facility for consignment exports, setting up of warehouses besides special exhibitions to project India's branded products and ISO 9000 companies.

Strengthening of trade with Asia is an important link in the strategy besides increased interaction with ASEAN, conclusion of negotiation in SAARC to complete SAFTA, widening and deepening of trade with Japan and trade intensification with China.

Africa, including WANA, is increasingly emerging as important for India's trade cooperation. The strategy will focus on joint ventures to handle trade, third country exports, organisation of impressive trade shows for market promotion and strengthening of banking infrastructure.

Pending the large scale diversification of India's export basket to include high-value-high-tech and value-added products to developed countries, our directional strategy would focus on the emerging markets in Africa, Latin America and CIS countries. An integrated programme for developing trade with Latin America with special promotional support and incentives has been drawn up which includes: (1) provision of additional SIL at 2%, (2) double weightage in textile quota and for recognition in status for entitlement of EH/TH benefits, (3) increased market survey and market promotional support, and (4) attractive ECGC cover and drawing up of a calendar of events in which India will participate in the Latin Americani region. The focus Latin America project is the first integrated export promotional project being launched by the Ministry of Commerce in an encompassing manner covering promotional measures, incentives and intensification of promotional activities such as participation in market surveys, visit of business delegation, trade fairs, exhibitions and preparation of promotional catalogues in Spanish and Portugese. With the adoption of integrated approach, it is expected that India's exports to the region could more than double in the next three years.

Product and Market Diversification Export strategies adopted since 1970s relate to a switch in the focus on products from agricultural commodities to manufactured products in the seventies and eighties and services in the nineties. The past strategies included identification of 16 thrust products and countries for focused effort, extreme focus strategy limited to 34 items in 1992, the 15 x 15 country commodity matrix and emerging products and markets identified for a

Indian Customs EDI System (ICES)

ICES is a customs clearance system providing for paperless transactions in the Customs House. The system is integrated with other agencies such as Directorate General of Foreign Trade, International Airport Authority of India, Apparel Export Promotion Council and the Punjab National Bank. Clearance messages are transmitted over NICNET EDI VAN to Customs House Agents (CHAs) and trading community.

At Delhi Customs the import module ICES/I has been operational since December 1995 and the export module ICES/E has been operational since May 1996. At Sahar Customs, Mumbai, Export module started on 8th October 1997. The system is being replicated at other centres in phased manner.

Drawback & Duty Payment System

Customs duty payments can be done electronically by having debit orders issued against exporters/importers bank accounts and crediting the Customs account automatically in the Punjab National Bank (PNB). Duty notices and advice of payments are integrated with Delhi Customs' ICES system. The drawback payments to exporters have also been automated through ICES, directly advising the Punbaj National Bank to credit the accounts of cargo handling agents. The main branch of Punjab National Bank in Custom House and 5 branches in the city are integrated with ICES.

EDI has emerged as a basic tool for carrying out international trade in an effective and efficient manner by reducing transaction time and cost through paperless trading. Some trading partners have even announced dates by which non-EDI transaction will not be handled or subject to the levy of a significant surcharge. An action plan is being implemented to computerise DGFT Offices' working methods to facilitate computer based online processing of all applications and receipts and issues under the export promotion schemes; the plan is to enable submission of application on floppy in all DGFT offices shortly to help i speedy disposal of applications and a software has been developed for preparing applications on a floppy for use of the regional licensing offices to help preparation of applications in computer compatible format. From 1.1.98 it would be possible to file licence applications through computer communication network (E.Mail) in major DGFT offices. The application format has been simplified to eliminate submission of information repeatedly, thus cutting delays and paper work.

To expedite collection and dissemination of trade data and improve the awareness of actual trade performance, the computer system in DGCI & S office in Calcutta is being upgraded; the strategy envisages connecting the DGCI&S, Calcutta to the EDI in the custom houses in tune with the master plan of the Department of Revenue.

noted in a few other market segments. The diversification strategy, therefore, concentrates on such markets which are important in world imports of India's export items but are currently not being addressed by India seriously. To give an example, gems & jewellery need to be diversified to Canada and Australia besides UK, Italy and France; marine products could be diversified to cover Denmark, Canada and Korea, drugs and pharmaceuticals to Canada, Australia and Switzerland, metal manufactures to Mexico, Switzerland and Spain, Dyes and intermediates to Canada, Spain, Austria, Switzerland and China, oilmeals to Spaian, Denmark and Canada.

Measures to Improve Competitiveness
of Indian Exports

Issues which impinge export competitiveness include incidence on export cost of interest rates and availability of export cost of interest rates and availability of export credit, risk cover and guarantee, a favourable exchange rate, duty free import of capital goods to enable setting up of production units exclusively for exports. Other aspects such as the infrastructure availability, transaction cost, etc. also have a bearing on the export competitiveness.

Export Credit

Total Export credit outstanding have steadily increased in recent years representing 11.3% of net bank credit in May 1997. There has been a steady improvement in the share of net bank credit going to the export sector recently. The continued efforts with the Reserve Bank of India have helped reduce the cost of export credit with an interest reduction of 2% achieved in two stages recently. With the sustained low rate of inflation, it is envisaged that the interest rates would go down further. There has also been a reduction in the penal rate of interest for post-shipment credit and the introduction of FCMR(B) Scheme designed to provide export credit at LIBOR Plus interest rate and further liberalisation and enhancement of EEFC funds to facilitate additional transactions. The medium term strategy envisages continued effort to improve the cost and availability of export credit through persistent efforts with the RBI and the commercial banks to achieve speeding up of the credit risk assessment process in a time bound manner, operationalising electronic funds transfer system, increase in the share of net bank credit flowing to the export sector, increased availability of working capital to the strengthening of the product liability insurance finance for major engineering items.

Export Credit
Guarantee
Corporation (ECGC)

Presently ECGC has a paid up capital base of Rs. 150 crores and guarantee is provided approximately to 17% of India's exports. The strategy includes efforts to improve the ECGC cover to exports include widening of the capital base to Rs. 500 crores by the end of the Ninth Plan and special support to new emerging markets in Latin America, CIS countries and Africa with attractive premium. An exercise is currently being undertaken to restructure one, is to decongest the major ports of the country besides ensuring speedier movement of cargo through lesser restrictions and documentation.

The network of ICDs/CFSs provided the ideal base for promoting containerisation since the use of containers have become the most preferred mode of transport. In keeping tune with time, various Customs procedures have been streamlined. A core group for facilitating container movement has recommended for simplification of various procedures to further smoothen the container movement between ICDs and ports and vice-versa. The suggestions are being currently examined by the concerned ministries.

Multimodal Transport

The multimodal transport system offers compact, frictionless, secured transmittal of goods under sustained responsibilities by a unitary agent through diverse modes from origin to destination. It is a discipline which recognises the prime importance of smooth and quicker flow of cargo and attunes all supporting services to achieving that end. To put it simply, the exporter hands over the export consignment at the door of his factory to the multimodal operator and receives in return a single document known as the Multimodal Transport Document. By presenting this document at his bank, he is able to retire the documents and claim sale proceeds indicated in the letter of credit. The Government has taken several steps to strengthen multimodal transport in the country. These include a comprehensive legislation to regulate and promote multimodal transport through the enforcement of Multimodal Transportation of Goods Act, 1993. The Act provides a legal regime to govern on a uniform basis the liabilities and responsibilities of a Multimodal Transport Operator engaged in international trade. The Ministry of Commerce which is the nodal agency for promotion of containerisation in the country has been actively pursuing with the Ministry of Surface Transport for various amendments to the Multimodal Transportation of Goods Act.

Simplification of Customs procedures

Agricultural commodities, particularly the perishable items, are prone to deterioration if delays occur in shipment of export consignments awaiting clearances from various agencies such as customs, plant quarantine authorities and the security personnel. To minimise the waiting period for obtaining clearances for cargo awaiting shipment, the procedures employed by various agencies are being examined so that they can be simplified and streamlined so that cargo is subjected to a minimum waiting period. To facilitate quicker movement of export cargo of perishable items, integrated cargo handling facilities are being established at major international airports in which a single window clearance would be accorded by plant quarantine and custom authorities as well as by the airport security personnel. This would enable speedier movement of cargo of fruits, vegetables, flowers and animal and dairy products thereby assist in retention of their quality.

Exchange Rate Management

improving production capabilities and ensuring production for exports. Despite progressive tariff reduction, the strategy envisages continuation of the EPCG scheme in view of the committed substantial export obligation.

While discussing the export performance and strategy, hardening of the rupee vis-a-vis dollar is one of the factors cited by trade and industry among many other factors referred. The implications of the hardening of the rupee are many and have to be viewed in the context of the high import intensity of India's exports, possible competitive devaluation by other competing countries, the demand elasticity for India's exports, etc. Exchange rate depreciation does help to improve export competitiveness. But there are other factors equally important in increasing export competitiveness viz. productivity, product quality, international demand/trade growth, etc. The effect of rupee depreciation would also vary among various export sectors depending on import intensity, value addition, etc. Currently, the exchange rate is not pegged to a fixed rate but is market determined. After prolonged stability the rupee has depreciated against dollar recently by about 2.5 per cent. Since exchange rate is a floating rate determined by market forces, there is no fixed rate which could be considered as the beneficial rate. Exchange rate management will have to balance the needs of exporters and other macro economic requirements for maintaining price stability.

Strategy to Strengthen Export Production Base

Export growth depends on the existence of a strong production base in thrust sectors which could expand to meet further growth needs. Exim Policy has focussed on the export production base through special schemes such as EPCG, EPZ/EOU, which have enabled production exclusively for exports. The medium term export strategy would focus on continuing the EPZ/EOU, EPCG schemes besides helping enhancement of production base through exports linked FDI, raising of investment limit in reserved for SSI against export obligation and active involvement of State Governments in the export effort.

FDI and exports

In India FDI has not been used as an instrument to promote exports in contrast with China where FDI has been limited to dominant export areas with special policy incentives. Largely the FDI has focussed on production for domestic market in India and does not have built in provisions for a direct thrust towards export promotion under the FDI although special incentives have been provided. The medium Term Strategy envisages the use of FDI as an instrument for ensuring adequate production base in such items for which world demand exists by considering special schemes to attract investment in such areas. The scheme will include special customs dispensation, infrastructural help, etc. A trial scheme to facilitate such export linked investment in Electronics is under formulation.

matters relating to export finance, infrastructure bottlenecks in India's exports and imports.

- With regard to the Electronic Sector the EPB endorsed the decisions taken and being given effect in respect of return of defective material for repair; permission of imported material on direct delivery basis without RBI permission. The requirement of permission of RBI for obtaining SIL in respect of on-site consultative services had already been deleted.
- ☐ Issues relating to the garment sector were discussed in the Fourth EPB Meeting in Mumbai, and a number of decisions were taken for this sector. These included flexibility in the operation of the duty entitlement scheme so as to overcome difficulties faced by garment exporters. The decisions specify that:
 - (a) for each category input-output norms would be covered by the largest size of the garment of a category;
 - (b) Customs would accept certification of licensing authorities where input-output norms have been Specified;
 - (c) Duty Entitlement Exemption Certificate loging would be completed by Customs on the basis of certification by the licensing authority; and
 - (d) Customs authorities would not link the clearance of export cargo with measurement norms of garments being exported.
- Recognising the inordinate delays of export/import cargoes at airports and ports, EPB decided that the Airport Authority of India and the Customs would coordinate their activities and the working hours of their units at the airports in such a way that the dwell time for import cargo is 48 hours and that for the export cargo is 24 hours. It was also ensured that the outer limit for uncleared cargo would not exceed 30 days after which it would be auctioned. This measure has had a positive effect as has been acknowledged by the exporting community. As of end October 1997, nearly 55% unclaimed imported air cargo has been cleared at Mumbai (Sahar International Airport).
- ☐ The Commerce Ministry through the EPB has been able to press for the creation of a single Window Administration for firms and units in the EPZs. The Development Commissioner at the EPZs have been given new authority to take decisions on a variety of comprehensive plan to make EPZ units free from procedural and customs constraints is under formulation to make the setting up of units in EPZ for export purposes really attractive.

Other Institutional Measures

Other institutional measures such as the brand image for Indian export products, introduction of EDI to reduce transaction costs, participation in trade blocs are vital features of the medium term strategy.

India Brand Equity Fund

The Trust was registered in July 1996 with the budgetary support of Rs. 50 crores and the present level of funds in Rs. 87.26 crores with the objective of developing brand image for Indian exports and help achieving a quantum jump in exports. The IBEF would undertake institutional promotions to project India, support sectoral promotions such as for electronics, textiles, engineering, etc., support product group promotions within each sector, support particular brands which have achieved international quality and performance standards and support domestic awareness generation programmes and make the "Made in India" label a symbol of quality, competitive price, reliability and service to the customer. The programmes of the Trust would include products like drugs and pharmaceuticals, machinery and instruments, chemicals, electronic goods ready-made garments, gems & jewellery, leather goods, manmade fabrics and marine products with the focus on markets to cover specifically Latin America, CIS countries, Africa apart from EU and US with the view to giving a new boost to exports.

EDI for electronic clearance and duty drawback and payments Electronic Data Interchange (EDI) is defined as "Computer to computer transfer of commercial or administrative information using an agreed standard to structure the data pertaining to that transaction". EDI helps to transfer invoices, purchase orders, etc... and to secure regulatory clearances. It is very helpful in the international trade, as a large number of agencies are involved and high speed transmission of information is required for efficient, easy and low-cost processing of the voluminous paperwork involved. It is particularly in the context of simplifying procedures with a view to improving efficiency that EDI has relevance and to minimise administrative delays and procedural complexities and to reduce the transaction time taken to clearances.

The Ministry of Commerce which is the nodal agency for EDI implementation in India is coordinating the EDI agencies. The Indian Customs EDI Systems (ICES) has successfully been implemented at Delhi Customs for electronic submission and clearance of Shipping Bills, Bill of Entry, etc., by CHAs. The system is also connected with other agencies like banks for duty drawback and payments, etc., the details of which are as follows:

acceptance of a policy to free agricultural exports from the restrictions now it faces and to prepare itself for meeting world demand 5 years hence, this would require withdrawal of restrictions on exports of all agricultural and allied products and plantation products to ensure continuity of supplies and to establish a reputation for India as a reliable supplier. In the liberalised set up, market prices will determine the volume of exports and imports such that when domestic prices rise above the international price, exports will automativelly cease; also import of similar products can be permitted to balance supplies with demand. This is particularly relevant in respect of pulses, rice, etc. where high quality, price varieties can be exported. In respect of tea, coffee, rice, vegetables, oil meals, pulses, etc. where establishment of distribution chain takes place, the demand can be cultivated and sustained over a period of time by sustained exports using the quality, brand preference, etc. If agricultural items can be on OGL, the local demands can be replenished without fixing quantitative ceilings or ban on exports. The long-term policy would require that restriction on exports of products in consumer packs are totally lifted as the quantity that can be exported in such form will be limited and the value addition of such export is substantial.

Conclusion

Export promotion is a continuous and dynamic process. It is not possible to evolve a strategy which is static as the export promotion requires constant monitoring of India's trade and performance in the background of international trading environment, opportunities and challenges. While the present strategy is a broad vision under a framework for achieving the goal of accelerated export growth through a sectoral, directional and institutional approach, it is our endeavour to consistently monitor the trade performance and adjust and fine tune our strategy to reap maximum advantages in export effort.

Initiatives have been taken to promote the use of EDI in the area of international trade by involving all the regulatory and facilitatory departments with the objective of achieving the overall transaction time equivalent to international level by early 1998. Ministry of Commerce is closely co-ordinating with organisations like Customs, DGFT, ports, airports, scheduled banks, RBI, CONCOR, etc. for integrated development and implementation of EDI by early 1998.

India's participation in Trade Groups and Prospects

In the WTO regime, India has to maximise the trade advantages by adopting economic diplomacy and by creating necessary international framework within which our economic and commercial interests can be promoted. Our prime importance has been given to imparting greater content to SAARC with a view to optimising regional opportunities by operationalising SAPTA in December 1995. The various rounds of SAPTA negotiations are expected to lead to acceleration of trade liberalisation in the region for achieving SAARC Free Trade Area by 2001. The Asia Pacific Region has been a major focus area for India in the context of the booming economies in this region. The dynamism of the South East and East Asian economies has led to emergence of this region as a major growth area of the world economy. The Bangkok Agreement, of which India is a Member, is expected to be revitalised with the likely accession of China in the near future. Other countries in the region are likely to join the Agreement as a result of which the Bangkok Agreement will emerge as a major vehicle for trade and economic cooperation in the region. India is now a Full Dialogue Partner of ASEAN and this relationship is likely to evolve quickly. Recently, a unique Sub-Regional Grouping involving Inida, Sri Lanka, Thailand and Bangladesh (BIST-EC) has been launched. Trade is an important element in the areas identified for cooperation in the BIST-EC initiative. The Indian Ocean Rim Association for Regional Cooperation launched at the Ministerial level in March 1997 is an important development for greater economic interaction in the Indian Ocean Rim. The Members of IOR-R account for 700 billion dollars in global trade and 100 billion dollars in intra-trade. The IOR-ARC is not a preferential trading arrangement but does provide a platform for launching a preferential trading arrangement amongst three or more member countries.

Inland Container Depots/Container Freight Stations

The advent of containerisation has drastically changed the transportation scenario in the country. To provide door step facilities to exporters/importers, a single window mechanism is functioning under the aegis of the Ministry of Commerce of accord approval to the proposals for setting up of Inland Container Depots and Container Freight Stations (ICDs/CFSs) in the country including those from the private sector. The Government has so far approved 75 proposals, 27 of those being in the privatare sector. The idea behind this exercise apart from the above cited

Licensing functions are being decentralised extensively. All licences for negative list of imports/negative list of exports, advance licences approved by ALC, EPCG Licences approved by EPCG Committee at Headquarater/COS will henceforth be issued by Regional Licensing Authority. Power to grant extension in export obligation period and revalidation of advance licences has been fully decentralised.

Duty Exemption Scheme

Advance Licences with Actual User condition will be allowed based on Positive Value Addition only. Requirement of minimum Value Addition of 33% for this category of Advance Licence has been done away with.

Clubbing of Advance Licences is being simplified. Accordingly, request for clubbing for closure of Advance Licences shall be considered in cases of similar description of the export product and Input Out Norms. Same value addition shall be insisted upon.

Advance Licences to Export House/Trading House/Star Trading House/Super Star Trading House will be issued automatically. Deficiency, if any, shall be required to be complied with after issuance of the licence.

Time limit for filing post-export DEPB claim is being raised from 90 days to 180 days. Limit of shipping bills per application for post-export DEPB (Duty Exemption Passbook Scheme) is being raised from 10 to 25.

One time extension in export obligation is being provided for regularisation of pending Advance Licences. Accordingly, if the exports have been completed even beyond the stipulated period but before 31-3-1998 such cases shall be regularised automatically on payment of prescribed extension charges. Similarly, on time extension in export obligation period up to 30-9-1998 has been provided in respect of Quantity Based Advance Licences on payment of extension charges provided at least 50% export has already been completed.

EPCG Licences

Under EPCG Licence, an exporter was required to fulfill his obligation by the export of goods manufactured from the capital goods imported under the licence only. In case an exporter undertakes further processing of goods so manufactured then the export of such value added products shall now be permitted but with an enhanced export obligation to the extent of 50%.

Jigs, fixtures, moulds and dies will be permitted to be imported along with spares to the extent of 20% of CIF value of licence. This has been done because earlier jigs, fixtures, moulds and dies which were imported under various schemes had to be exported back or could be retained only on payment of duty. Now these goods imported under EPCG can be retained by these exporters.

Customs bonding of Export Oriented Units (EOU) is mandatory. Para 9.19 of the Handbook of Procedures prescribes that "The entire operations of an EOU shall be in a custom bonded factory, unless otherwise specifically exempted from physical bonding". The definition of EOU includes EOU/EPZ/EHTP/STP. The bonding, as per existing EXIM policy, is for 5 years.

The requirement of bonding has got its own implication in terms of the cost and speedy clearance of goods for export market. Reduction of cost through reduction in delay and speedy response to the changing market environment is considered pre-requisite in electronics and software industry to derive maximum competitive advantage. In respect of software sector physical bonding does not seem to have any relevance for monitoring as there is no fool-proof system to evaluate the software export. It also needs to be added that import duty incidence in receipt of electronic has also been steadily decreasing.

It is seen that no custom bonding is prescribed in respect of specified goods in aquaculture and floriculture. The notification issued by Department of Revenue states, "The importer shall maintain a proper account of consumption and utilization of the said goods and of exports made by him and shall submit such account periodically to the Development Commissioner in such form and in such manner as may be laid down by the said Development Commissioner". Efforts will be made to ensure support for a similar arrangement in respect of electronic and software sector. The monitoring system could take place not based on custom physical bonding but based on fiscal checks. This will be a major step forward and the experiment in electronics sector will give enough data and experience so as to extend the concept to other sectors.

Export
Promotion Board An Instrument for Export Promotion

As follow up on the decisions taken in the Prime Minister's meeting with the exporting community in June 1997 an Export Promotion Board (EPB) headed by the Cabinet Secretary was set up in early August 1997. The Export Promotion Board was established to improve export competitiveness and advantage for India by addressing cost-related factors which hinder exports and provide infrastructural support through greater coordination among concerned Ministers. The EPB has held four meetings so far and has addressed a number of important issues.

Issues taken up in the four meetings of the EPB are as follows:

On suggestions from the representatives in the Electronics and Textile Sectors, a number of decisions were taken to improve the exports of these two important sectors. These issues included

Export of branded jewellery/partly processed jewellery is being allowed so as to encourage the export of branded jewellery. Such exporters will now be able to export branded jewellery. Such exporters will now be able to export branded jewellery for display for a period of 180 days. Personal carriage of jewellery in baggage by foreign buyer will also be permitted.

Gold Loan Scheme terms relaxed

The Government relaxed the terms and conditions for gold loan schemes besides permitting export of branded jewellery for the trade to establish its own brands in the modified Exim Policy. The modified policy, will now cover platinum and silver jewellery and articles also.

The measures incorporated as part of the efforts to boost exports of the gem and jewellery sector, provide for setting up private and public bonded warehouses in export processing zones and domestic tariff area for import and re-export of cut and polished diamonds, precious and semi-precious stones, rough diamonds and rough precious and semi-precious stones.

The policy modification allows for export of rough diamonds with value addition stipulation of five per cent on imports, while scope of bulk licence has been increased by making overseas companies eligible for it. Only utilised value of diamond imprest licence would be taken into account for calculating net foreign exchange. The agency commission formulation has been revised for export of gold, silver and platinum jewellery and articles and now value addition will be calculated after deduction of agency commission.

Export of partly processed jewellery will be permitted from domestic tariff area. Value addition for gold, platinum and silver jewellery and articles has also been modified. Wastage norms for these jewellery and articles has been revised while period of export for all schemes in domestic tariff area, export-oriented units and export processing zones has been increased to 120 days.

Upto $1 lakh personal carriage of jewellery samples for export promotion tours has been allowed. Similar carriage by foreign buyers from export processing zone and export-oriented units as also from domestic tariff area has been allowed. Re-export of unsuitable, broken cut and polished diamonds, rough diamonds has been permitted up to five per cent of value of goods.

Electronic Sector

- a) Threshold limit under 'zero' Duty EPCG Scheme for software is being brought down from Rs. 20 crores to Rs. 10 lakhs.
- b) SIL entitlement for electronic sector to the licence holder under the DEPB is being enhanced from 15 per cent of Net Foreign Exchange earnings to 25 per cent of Net Foreign Exchange earnings.

matters including debonding and partial debonding of capital goods, simplified procedure for efficient and free replacement of defective exported goods.

Procedural requirements covering exemptions to specified goods imported for export promotion processing by units in EPZ or FTZ are in the process of being liberalised. For Electronics hardware sector, the self removal procedure is to be made applicable with suitable safeguard to enhance the quantum of electronic hardware export.

Timebound implementation of these decisions is expected to facilitate trade and accelerate export growth.

Need for a Long Term Policy to Promote Agro-Exports Export of agricultural products including tea, coffee and plantation products constitutes approximately 19% of India's exports. In the post-Uruguay Round trading environment, India's potential for export growth is high when compared to other sectors, requiring special inputs to meet international demand. It is, therefore, necessary that there is a need for a long term policy to be adopted for taking advantage of the situation that will emerge in course of time.

Studies have estimated the potential gains in trade arising out of the liberalisation package agreed under the Uruguay Round for major product groups. For fisheries products, additional exports are estimated to be 13% of the current level of trade. For other agricultural products as a group, the increase is estimated to be around 21% of the current level. Exporting countries are also expected to gain out of the Market Access Commitment. Under this commitment, market access opportunities of products subject to tarification would be maintained at least at the pre-tarification level. Further minimum market access to the extent of 3% of domestic consumption would have to be created for products of which there was either nil or negligible imports. With this percentage going up to 5% by 2004 for the developing countries.

Export of agricultural products at a reasonable optimum price is possible only if consistency in supplies can be ensured. This is especially important in respect of products for which consumer loyalty has to be built over a period since brand loyalty can be built up only if the continuity of supplies can be maintained. India's strength in the agro-sector lies in sectors like rice, wheat products, coarse grains, spices, cashew, oil meals, sugar, horticulture and floriculture products and processed goods. This range of products encompasses within itself products which do not undergo elaborate processing and the products which do not demand a high degree of skill and care for production. A long-term strategy would therefore require the

Exim Policy: 1997-2002

Highlights of the Revised Exim Policy: 1997-2002, announced on April 13, 1998 DEPB Credit Rates for over 300 items are announced. The Rates for more than 1,600 items have already been announced. With this DEPB Rates for all the items, where the input output norms and value addition norms were existing would have been declared. The Rates now announced will also be applicable for the exports already effected under DEPB.

For calculation of DEPB Credit Rates at present only the basic custom duty is taken into account. Now special Custom Duty shall also be taken into account for the purpose of calculation of DEPB Rates.

Threshold limit for EPCG zero duty scheme for Electronics, Textiles, Leather, Gems & Jewellery, Sports goods and Food processing sectors has been brought down from Rs. 20 crores to Rs. 1 crore. For agricultural and allied sectors, this limit under zero duty has been brought down from Rs. 5 crore to Rs. 1 crore.

Provision is being made to enable the setting up of private Bonded Warehouses which would permit import and supply of even Negative List items for supply on payment of duty against specific licences and without payment of duty against Advance Licence. This should help to ensure easy and timely availability of raw-materials of the exporters, specially to SSI units who may find it difficult to import directly smaller quantities at internationally competitive price.

Private bonded warehouse for exports will also be permitted. This would help such exporters, especially overseas buyers to procure the goods from the domestic market from different manufacturers duty free. This permission will help project exports and large overseas buyers including departmental stores.

A provision has been made to the effect that movement of export consignment will not be interrupted and no export consignment shall be withheld or delayed for any reason whatsoever. In case of any doubt Custom authorities may ask for an undertaking that the exports is on the sole responsibility of the exporter.

To help sectors like electronics and garments, licence on production programme basis being allowed with flexibilities like change in description of export product so long as accounting is in terms of input output norms. After completion of export obligation against this licence, second licence on production programme basis in the same year can also be issued.

Fluctuation of 10% of CIF value is being permitted automatically with corresponding enhancement/reduction in export obligation. Accordingly, the exporter will not have to come to DGFT for seeking such enhancement or reduction in CIF value time and again.

EOU/EPZ

In the agricultural and allied sector EOU/EPZ units will be permitted on the basis of positive Net Foreign Exchange earning only. Accordingly, for this sector, the requirement of minimum Net Foreign Exchange earning of 20 percent is being done away with.

Depreciation limit is being enhanced from 70 per cent to 90 percent over a period of 5 years in electronic goods and over a period of eight years in other goods. This will help the electronic sector including the computer hardware and software sector as new technology can be brought in at a faster pace.

Export House/Trading House/Star Trading House/Super Star Trading House

Threshold limit for export house is being fixed at Rs. 12.50 crores on an average FOB value of the exports made during the preceding three licensing years. Limits of trading house/star trading house/super star trading house have also been fixed accordingly. Certificates based on this revised criteria will be valid for a period of 3 years. This will meet the demand of all the export promotion organisations and individual exporter who had felt that the limit of Rs. 20 crores prescribed in EXIM Policy, 1997-2002, was too high.

In order to encourage project exports, double weightage in terms of value will be given to project exports.

Additional SIL will be given based on incremental exports as given below:

25-50 per cent over preceding year: 1 per cent.

50-75 per cent over preceding year: 2 per cent.

75-100 per cent over preceding year: 3 per cent.

Over 100% over preceding year: 5 per cent.

Gem & Jewellery

Wastage norms which have been revised have been de-linked from value addition norms. Value addition norms have also been revised on the basis of input output analysis. This should give a fillip to jewellery exports through simplification of the procedures. The successful Replenishment Licensing Scheme based on value for gold will be extended to silver and platinum jewellery as well. This should provide further impetus to exports in this sector.

Exports

Exports of all oilseeds such as HPS groundnut, sesame seeds, sunflower seeds, mustard seeds etc., when exported for consumption purposes, are being made free without any quantitative/licensing requirements. Similarly, export of vegetable oils such as coconut oil, cotton seed oil, corn oil, kardi oil, linseed oil, mustard oil, niger seed oil, palm oil, parl kernel oil, rape seed oil, rice bran oil, salad oil, sunflower oil, sesame seed oil, soyabean oil are being made free. Export of groundnut oil in consumer packs up to 5 kgs is also being made free. However, their export in bulk shall continue to be restricted.

The value limit for free gift is being raised to Rs. 25,000/- from existing limit of Rs. 15,000/- Exporters of medicines/ pharmaceutical formulation will now be able to export free samples/physician samples, not for sale, up to a value of one per cent of their exports of similar items in the previous licensing year as against the existing limit of US $ 2,000/-.

Computerisation

The process of conputerisation of DGFT offices to improve their functioning would now be completed during 1998. The task now would be to ensure that this process is completed during 1998 itself. This would include not only computerisation but also the inter-linking of major offices of DGFT with the Customs so that electronic data inter-change could take place. The Exim Policy and the Handbook of Procedures is being placed on the Internet and henceforth all public notices issued by the DGFT would be on Internet. To bring about transparency in decisions taken by various committees for issuance of licences will simultaneously displayed electronically.
